Audio Conference Highlights View Complete Agenda

In 2010, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) enacted the Renovation, Repair and Painting Rule (RRP) which requires ANYONE who performs work on pre-1978 homes to follow a specific set of Lead Safe Work Practices. These requirements effects multiple occupations including landlords, property maintenance personnel, remodelers, painters, plumbers, electricians, as well as many other trades. Please note, THIS IS NOTHING NEW, the health effects of lead based paint have been known for years, and federal agencies have had rules and policies in effect for years to eliminate the NUMBER 1, 100 PERCENT preventable disease that plagues our country - lead poisoning. It is only now that EPA has formalized the requirements as the RRP Rule. Many landlords, contractors (big and small), who may fall under the auspices of this rule do not understand what these requirements may be and if in fact they are required to follow the law, yet the stated fines for noncompliance may be as high as $37,500 per violation! Lack of knowledge of this law, is NOT a defensible argument! This live audio conference will help you understand the RRP rule, clear up multiple 'rumors' surrounding the law, give UPDATES on changes to the law, and provide guidance on how to obtain training and complete all necessary paperwork associated with this law. The audio conference will address the EPA requirements, as well as specific state requirements including those who have become authorized to regulate this law within their state boundaries. Even if you know about and have tried to comply with this law, this program will discuss some potential changes to the law. This audio conference is imperative for any person who has unanswered questions pertaining to the RRP Rule, who has never heard of this rule, or who wants to know where this law is going!
